

DAILY RECORD-UNION

PUBLISHED BY THE
SACRAMENTO PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Publication Office, Third St., bet. J and K

THE DAILY RECORD-UNION

Published every day of the week, Sundays excepted.

For one year, $2.00

For three months, .75

For six months, 1.25

Subscribers served by carriers at 1000

The paper can be had of the Principal Periodicals Dealers, Newsman and Agents.

Entered at the Postoffice at Sacramento a second-class matter.

Weather Indications for To-day.

California—Fair, with variable winds, and slightly cooler in Southern California; nearly normal temperature in the northern part.

Oregon and Washington—Fair, with variable winds and slightly cooler.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Time For Action.

The time has arrived when the people of Sacramento must decide whether or not law-abiding citizens are to have any protection against the horde of burglars, thieves, cut-throats, highway robbers and gamblers that now infest the city. The fact has become undeniable that there is no longer any protection to persons or property. Our officers are fired upon, citizens are openly stood up and garroted on the principal streets, business houses and residences are broken into every night, until the issue is squarely raised whether the people of Sacramento shall control the city, or the thugs and rascals of hell shall possess it. The city of Fresno was recently suffering under a similar regime of terror and crime, when a public mass meeting was held, and a mounted police force sent forth from that city was found in the city after the expiration of twenty-four hours would remain at their peril. In less than twenty-four hours not one of them was to be found, and that city has since been a lawless city. Sacramento neither wishes nor will tolerate vigilance committees, but she needs immediate and determined public movement which will at once rid the city of the murderous and thieving gang that is a disgrace to humanity and a menace to lives and property.

Abbott's Assignment.

For some time past it has been quite generally known that A. Abbott, Cashier of the California State Bank and member of the State Board of Railroad Commissioners, was financially embarrassed. It came about in the great expense he went to in opening the Magalia mine, at Oroville, and in subsequent litigation regarding its title. He gave a number of notes for purchase money and other considerations, and they falling due, his creditors refused an extension of time, and he was forced to make the assignment, which is to Albert M. Johnston, and several other persons. The inst. The property consists of real estate and personal property, the latter about $30,000, the former the title to the mine referred to.

The paper reports "that the party of the party of the first part is indebted to divers persons in sundry ways, and that he is unable to pay the same, and is desirous of providing for the payment of the same so far as is in his power, by an assignment of all his property for that purpose for the benefit of his creditors, without priority or preference whatsoever, except as may be lawfully provided for by the laws of the State of California."

The document then goes on in the usual legal form to set over and assign to Albert M. Johnston all "the lands, hereditaments, appurtenances, goods, chattels, stocks, choses in action, present and future, of every kind, name, nature and description whatsoever, belonging to the party of the first part, wherever the same may be lawfully except, except such property as may be lawfully exempt from execution."

Most of the creditors reside outside of the city, and in which has been employed is not one of them. His total liabilities are estimated at $50,000. He owes N. D. Ridgway $24,000, but who is secured by a mortgage on the Magalia mine. Fred Cox is one of his creditors to the extent of $10,000, but he is secured by a mortgage on the Magalia mine. The terms of the assignment are that the assignor, A. Abbott, has offered to settle with his creditors on the following terms:

Catholic Fair Awards.

Following are additional awards and winners at the Catholic fair, as just announced by committees: The fancy work basket was won by No. 70. The willow chair by No. 205. The boy's suit was won by No. 36. The handsome cushion was won by No. 49, held by Mrs. O. H. Sheets. The fine dress was won by Mrs. Judge Devine. The baby's set, made by Mrs. Fox, was won by No. 61, held by Ed. Westrich, and $25 worth of preserved fruits, donated by Miss Wittenbrock. All articles unclaimed for can be secured by calling at 1215 Second street.

The Sacred Heart picture, donated by Miss Maggie O'Toole, at the recent Catholic fair, was won by Mr. McCabe, No. 29. The quilt, made by Mrs. J. J. Grass Valley was won by Father Haupt, No. 443.

The individual who holds the winning number for the Durham coat, can get the same by calling on Mrs. Judge Twelfth and G streets: sewing machine at St. Joseph's Academy, painting of Mr. Shastit at the same place, the tea gown at Miss Murphy's, 308 K street.

Serious Accident.

Bicycles are a nice thing to ride upon and first-class amusement for young men, yet it cannot be denied but that they are also first-class "horse-scars." Several accidents have occurred in the city, and one that will mark right up to a locomotive, and are not frightened at the discharge of firearms or an approaching street car, scare at this combination.

On Sunday, at Twelfth and H streets, while Mr. and Mrs. W. Grothen were riding along and having a good time, a young man came along on one of these "noiseless steeds." The horse did not seem him, but the bicycle was at his side. The young man, who was around, upset the phaeton, throwing its occupants violently into the street. Mrs. Grothen received severe wounds in the side of her head and face and had her shoulder badly injured. Mr. Grothen was badly shaken up, had a fracture of the arm, his hand fractured, and also received internal injuries.

Boy Injured.

Yesterday's Record-Union contained an item to the effect that a man supposed to be a tramp had fallen from a freight train near Brighton station and received such injuries as to render him unconscious, and in that condition he was taken to the County Hospital. It turns out to have been a fifteen-year-old boy by the name of Charles Best, who lives in Perkins, and a boy by the name of Andrew Lane attempted to board a moving freight train to ride from Brighton station to Perkins. Best fell off, while Lane, on his arrival at Perkins, hastened to inform Best's parents of the accident. Dr. J. J. Perkins, who is a physician and a member of the Perkins business and consulations about the head, but nothing of a serious nature.

Glad To Get Back to Sacramento.

F. W. Day, of the printing firm of Day & Fay, has returned from San Diego with his family, and will reside in Sacramento for the future. He went to San Diego a little over a year ago, during the boom, and went into business, but was glad enough a few days ago to be able to shut up shop and get back to "God's country." He says everything in that section of the State is overdone, and a majority of the largest firms in San Diego have within the past several weeks made assignments.

San Jones preaches daily, Congregational Church, 1030, New Pavilion, 730.

Special sale of clothing to-morrow—see our ad—at Red House.

SAM JONES' MEETINGS.

INCREASED INTEREST—LARGER

QUARTERS PROCURED.

The Georgia Revivalist Puts in

Some Close-Fitting Hits at

Saints and Sinners.

Yesterday morning Amory Hall was filled with even a larger crowd than assembled on the preceding morning to hear the Rev. Sam

Jones. The meeting was opened by Rev. Mr.

Briggs with prayer, followed by the usual song service. Professor Eichel gave one of his solos:

"Say, Is Your Lamp?" rendering it very effectively.

Mr. Jones took as his text, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him and he shall bring it to pass."

We have to thank this morning (said the speaker) one of the broadest and most comprehensive promises of the Book, "and he shall bring it to pass." There is scarcely a person in this audience who has not some supreme wish, and they are not willing to comply with the conditions necessary to the accomplishment of those wishes. A good many of you stand around and wonder to find out how it is that they will not do it. A great many people wonder whether

TEEL IN GOD'S FICKET

To see whether He has the means for fulfilling

His promise before you will do your part. (Cries

"Amen.") I am not content to stand by these Christians who are everlastingly dropping down on their knees and saying, "Lord give me more money, and I will do it. I will do it. I will want, any more than a little crying babe knows what it wants. I want to know what you want what you want, but don't stand around and keep saying, "Lord give me more money, and I will do it. I will do it. I will do it. I will do it."

"Go on," said a General Grant or Lee never sent a regiment to the front to battle and then they are not willing to comply with the conditions necessary to the accomplishment of

those wishes. A good many of you stand

around and wonder to find out how it is that they will not do it. A great many people

wonder whether

RAISE THE DEVIL WITH THE COOK.

Because of the fact that a man in the audience exclaimed, "That's true as gospel!"

I don't ask that you should have inscriptions on your backs, and that you should have a minister's congregation march around him so that he would be made of such a thing and when he got through his sermon,

HE WOULD BE SPINDED ICE CREAM.

I feel sorry for a minister whose people think he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

because he is a saint, and that he is a saint

THE EXHIBITION.

Opening of the Loan Exhibition—A Spectacle of Beauty.

The Loan Exhibition at the E. B. Crocker

Art Gallery, conducted by the Ladies' Museum Association, an Executive Committee of eleven ladies being in charge, opened last evening with a grand success. About 300 persons attended. It is within the mark to say that they were pleased and surprised at all they expressed themselves in the warmest terms commendatory of the exhibition. San Franciscans present were open in saying that it surpasses in beauty anything of the order ever held in this city. A fine orchestra played in the exhibition hall, concert music from 7:30 to 9:30, and then the lecture room for dancing until 10:30. The people visited every floor of the building, but many left the picture galleries only to return again and again.

These galleries have not been lighted since March, 1885. In the meantime the pictures have been rehung, and the stately and the whole appearance of the gallery changed by the readjustment, and scores of pictures are now examined as if wholly new additions, the rehanging being of the most successful kind.

It must suffice to say that they are such as will probably not again be grouped in Sacramento in twenty years. Most of them cannot be seen in stores and the majority are from private collections, upon which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended. Thomas Hill's great painting, "The Driving of the Last Spike," is in front of it. Its historical value is more and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

and more developing, and ten years from now

it will be a priceless treasure. "Circus," shown

in front of it, is a historical value is more

AN OFFICER SHOT.

The Burglar Becoming Desperate, They

Resist Arrest.

What is to become of our city in the

